

Doctor in Economics, University of Barcelona. Author of many studies and publications about the organisation, management and economy of ports and their urbanistic renewal. The main studies, consulting and publications are about the ports of Latin America (Buenos Aires, Rosario, Santos, Valparaíso, Rio de Janeiro, Cartagena de Indias, Havana) and Spain (Barcelona, Vigo, Tarragona, Algeciras, La Coruña, Baleares). At present, he studies three subjects: the economic relations between port and city in a context of urbanistic reforms of old spaces; economy and port organization and his traffics; the development of new platforms and logistic zones. He is also involved in museum maritime projects.
