

Freelance professional. He has worked in the port for more than 20 years, the last 10 of which as Manager of the Port 2000 Urban Development Department. After retirement, in this new stage, he has set himself two objectives: to continue promoting actions to achieve the goal of Barcelona becoming a benchmark in the international nautical sector; to continue promoting all those actions that contribute to making Barcelona a port city, rather than simply a city with a port.