

Architect from the Finis Terrae University (2006), a Master's in Project Didactics from the Bío-Bío University (2012) and a PhD in Advanced Architectural Projects from the Higher Technical School of Architecture of Madrid (2016), thanks to the award of the Advanced Human Capital Training Scholarship abroad from the Government of Chile.

Academic researcher at the School of Architecture of the Finis Terrae University where he develops teaching and research. He has also been the academic coordinator and director of the Department of Architecture at the University of Magallanes.

Member of the architectural criticism research group (ARKRIT) of the Polytechnic University of Madrid, head of the Project Criticism Laboratory diploma program of the Finis Terrae University and a member of the Teaching Committee of the Chilean College of Architects. In addition, he is an evaluator for the National Research and Development Agency of the Ministry of Sciences of Chile, a member of scientific committees of various indexed journals and an evaluator of institutional accreditation of the National Commission for Accreditation of Higher Education of Chile.

He develops research and publications around the criticism and theory of the architectural project.