

Almost twenty years of experience as head of communications for a public body have provided and reinforced her with skills such as coordination, planning and control of both internal and external communications, as well as relations with the media, institutional representatives and clients. She has extensive training in communication and in the logistics and port sector. Since 2019 she has been Secretary General of RETE.