

Dr Mina Akhavan is currently a Marie Skłodowska-Curie Research Fellow at TU Delft, Faculty of Architecture and the Built Environment. Her current project is (Re)Connecting Maritime Ecosystems: Geospatial Mapping of the 'Spaces of Flows' in Port-City Regions (RePortFlows) (2022-2014). She previously worked as a Postdoctoral Researcher and Adjunct Professor at Politecnico di Milano, where she graduated with a PhD in Spatial Planning and Urban Development (2015).

Her research interests include spatial planning, port-city development, maritime ports, logistics networks, transnational urbanism, sharing economy, new emerging workplaces, gender issues, mobility, and ageing. She has published in several peer-reviewed journals and authored and co-edited several books.

She is the author of Port Infrastructure Developments and Port-City Interface Dynamics (Springer, 2020); and co-editor of New Workplaces - Location Patterns, Urban Effects, and Development Trajectories (Springer, 2020) and European Narratives on Remote Working and Coworking During the COVID-19 Pandemic (Springer, 2023).