

Degree in Architecture at Iuav University of Venice, Italy. She was Head of Studies and Research Center of Association "Confcommercio Imprese per l'Italia of Treviso", Italy, (from December 2019 to July 2023). She was Secretary General of RETE, international no-profit association for the collaboration between ports and cities, based in Venice, (from April 2017 to November 2019); she is still today Coordinator of RETE Advanced Nodes (since 2017, ad interim since 2020) and is still today member of the RETE International Scientific Committee (since 2013). She was also a member of the editorial board of PORTUS, the online magazine of RETE, and member of the Editorial Board of PORTUSplus, the scientific journal of RETE (from 2013 to 2021). She was scientific director of many international city-port conferences and workshop. Particular experience in the activation, development, and management of strategic relations in the specific context of port cities and the port-city relationship with the aim of improving the collaboration and technical interaction between the local actors: institutions, policymakers, stakeholders, associations, citizens.