

Doctor Architect. Urban designer and planner. Master in Urbanism at Harvard University (GSD MAUD 95). Professor of Urbanism and Urban Planning at the Technical School of Architecture of A Coruna (UDC). General Director of Urbanism and Land Planning during the 10th Galician Government. Deputy Major at the City Council of A Coruna, where he was in charge of urbanism and infrastructure and participated in the first design of the maritime esplanades of La Marina and O Parrote (traffic burying and pedestrianisation). Eisenhower Fellowship in the programme "Challenges of Urbanism in the 21st Century", to research on maritime esplanades in 30 cities in the USA for several months. Executive Chairman of the Port Authority of A Coruna, where they are facing the process of transforming the waterfront of the Inner Port.